ABOUT ME

With a dynamic blend of hands-on business experience and nearly two decades in business education, Janet brings a practical, results-driven approach as a Learning Facilitator. As a certified QuickBooks Online U.S. User, she has guided students in advanced accounting courses to achieve their certifications, preparing them with real-world, industry-recognized skills. Her teaching spans a broad spectrum of business courses, from Financial Analysis and Securities/Investments to Business Law and Professional Communications. As a district lead for accounting teachers, she set standards and drove excellence in business education.

Beyond the classroom, she honed her entrepreneurial and management skills as President of Prideland, Inc., where she launched new business ventures, developed operational policies, and created Excel-based payroll and tax solutions to enhance efficiency. In her finance role with a major oil company, she spearheaded process improvements that reduced costs, created insightful data analysis tools, and communicated critical insights to upper management, securing a top 1% performance rating. She is excited to leverage this unique background to design and deliver transformative, engaging learning experiences that foster growth and success.
